

Netanyahu could not continue his maniacal genocidal war against the Palestinian people without the assistance of several of the world's leaders, most notable being America's President Joe Biden, who is supplying Israel with the weapons of war that Netanyahu uses to murder hundreds of thousands. Yes, more than 300,000, NOT 40,000, Palestinians have been murdered to date. (See this report.) There is no contesting the fact that under both U.S. and International Law, Joe Biden is a war criminal.

The second leader facilitating Netanyahu's slaughter of innocents is Turkey's President Recep Erdoğan. The Turkish leader talks tough, but his talk is cheap. Turkey is Israel's largest supplier of crude oil. All Erdoğan has to do is shut down delivery to Israel, and it's game over. But he won't do it.

And obviously, you could also add most of the leaders of the Western European nations to the ignoble list of Israel's partners in crime.

... What is worse is the fact that America's submission to a foreign government (Israel) could not have happened without the dominating influence of America's evangelical churches over the last 70+ years, who have been preaching and proclaiming—from pulpits, schools, colleges, on radio and television, in rallies, newspapers, magazines, periodicals, etc.—that the murderous and idolatrous State of Israel comprises God's chosen people and that the land of Palestine is the "Promised Land" for the Zionist state.

This erroneous prophetic doctrine was popularized at the beginning of the last century by the Scofield Reference Bible. Call it whatever you like, Scofield Futurism, Premillennial Dispensationalism, Christian Zionism, etc., it is the root from which all things Zionist have grown in these United States. And it is destroying this country!

I realize that I lost many evangelicals in the first paragraph of this column, but if you are still reading, the picture gets even worse. It's really hard for us in America to truly comprehend the depth of the evil that emanates from Tel Aviv.

Writing for The Unz Review (Ron Unz is an American Jew, by the way), Kevin Barrett wrote a column entitled Israeli Rapists and the Depravity of the Zionist Mind. It is more than sobering to read, but every American—especially every evangelical—needs to read it. I warn you that what follows is nauseatingly painful to read.

Anyone who doubts that “Israel” is an asylum for the criminally insane, and that the lunatics are in charge, must not be following news about the Sde Taiman torture facility. That is where a scandal erupted in early August following the arrest of nine Israeli reservist soldiers on charges of gang-raping a Palestinian hostage with a stick. (They were only charged because their crime was caught on camera, so the US pushed the Israeli authorities to go through the motions of a pro forma prosecution.)

In the world's eyes, the scandal was that only nine of the torturers at Sde Taiman had been arrested. Israel's most notorious torture camp, Sde Taiman had long been the site of regular and systematic infliction of the most depraved forms of torture imaginable.

Human rights lawyer Khaled Mahajneh, one of the few outside observers who has managed to get inside the torture prison, said: “The treatment is more horrifying than anything we have heard about Abu Ghraib and Guantanamo.” According to the Israeli newspaper Haaretz, more than 30 Palestinian hostages have been tortured to death at Sde Taiman since last fall.

But in “Israel,” the scandal was that the nine gang-rapists had been arrested! Immediately a “right to rape” movement broke out, supported by a chorus of voices throughout much of the Israeli media, and featuring pro-rape protesters gathering to show their rabid support for sexual violence at many locations around the country.

Almost as soon as word of the arrests leaked, a crowd of pro-rape protesters, led by parliamentarian Zvi Sukkot and Heritage Minister Amichai Eliyahu, gathered outside the gates of Sde Taiman. The two dignitaries incited the crowd to attack the guards, storm the torture camp, and free the rapists. A melee broke out as the right-to-rape rioters overcame the torture camp guards, helped by stand-down orders issued to police by supremacist minister Itamar Ben-Gvir, and ran wild inside the camp. But they discovered that the rapists, their heroes, had been transferred to Beit Lid in the Occupied West Bank.

That evening, throngs of rape-loving rioters descended on Beit Lid, invading a military court building and later a detention center. According to Le Monde:

Among them were masked, armed men in uniform, some wearing the insignia of Force 100, a unit accused of multiple acts of violence against detainees. Tally Gotliv, a member of parliament from Likud, the ruling far-right party, cheered on the rioters outside, along with two other far-right Mps.

The rioters were unable to immediately free the rapists. But shortly after the nationwide outbreak of pro-rape protests and riots, accompanied by a groundswell of pro-rape opinion in Israeli television and print media, five of the ten accused rapists were freed pending trial.

Since the initial protests and riots, the “right to rape” has been vociferously defended at the highest levels of Israeli politics and society. According to al-Jazeera:

On being asked by Ahmad Tibi, one of the Arab MPs within the Israeli Knesset last week if it was legitimate “to insert a stick into a person’s rectum”, Hanoch Milwidsky, a member of Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu’s ruling Likud party, responded: “If he is a Nukhba [Hamas militant], everything is legitimate to do! Everything!”

The United States government, in its dozens of unjust wars on almost every continent, has probably committed even more war crimes than “Israel” has. But Americans, for the most part, don’t vaunt their worst crimes. US officials were embarrassed by incidents like the My Lai massacre and the Abu Ghraib prison scandal, and some have worked hard to make such horrors the exception rather than the rule.

But in Israel, the worst forms of abuse are the rule, not the exception, and much if not most of the population, as well as its leaders, enthusiastically embrace systematic rape, torture, and the murder of defenseless women and children. As Robert Inkalesh writes: “The mere fact that Israeli elected officials supported the gang-rapists, who so badly sodomised their victim that he died of his wounds, tells you everything you need to know about Israel’s government.”

Is Israel’s right-to-rape frenzy an aberration? Unfortunately it is not. The Zionist occupation has spent 76 years systematically committing a long-term slow-motion genocide against the people of Palestine, and its morals have degraded to the point that comparing Israelis to the people of Sodom (ahl lut) might be an insult to Sodom.

The Israeli right-to-rape protests are not the settler colony's first mass movement to exhibit almost unbelievable depravity. Huge mobs of Israeli protesters and rioters have been regularly blocking food trucks, and this at a time when UN officials declare that more than a million Palestinians are in imminent danger of starvation. And when the food trucks do get through, Israeli soldiers, steeped in the same genocidal mentality, wait till the starving Palestinians have crowded around the trucks, and then shoot them dead, sometimes over 100 at a time.

Many of the Zionists' worst crimes explicitly target helpless women and children. Israel systematically murders children by various methods, including:

- *Deliberately blowing up their houses, using an AI tracking system sadistically named "Where's Daddy" designed to hold back on bombing until "suspected Hamas members" return home so their women and children can also be murdered.

- *Routinely shooting children and babies with sniper rifles, often putting two bullets, one through the head and one through the heart, into the same small body. (This has been going on regularly for decades as a matter of de facto national policy, as reported by Chris Hedges in 2003.)

- *Bragging about shooting pregnant women in the belly: One of the Israeli Defense Forces' most popular T-shirts shows a visibly pregnant Palestinian woman with a target on her belly above the legend: "One shot two kills."

- *Regularly and systematically using bulldozers to bury large numbers of Palestinian civilians alive.

- *Unleashing killer dogs to rip apart both living and dead bodies, and filming, posting, and celebrating such actions.

*Systematically murdering journalists; the total number killed since October, as of this writing, is 169.

Thanks to the peculiar form of criminal insanity afflicting Israel, Zionists of all stripes, at both the popular and leadership levels, brag about their horrifically depraved behavior rather than denying it, denouncing it, or at least feeling ashamed of it, as would normal people in a normal society (meaning virtually every other society on Earth.) Israelis are the only people who crowd hilltops and throw barbecue parties to celebrate watching Palestinian women and children being blown to bits, crushed under rubble, and burned to death with white phosphorus.

Thanks to the vociferous support for genocide expressed by a long list of top Israeli officials, the International Court of Justice has had no difficulty proving intent, which is normally the sticking point of genocide prosecutions. Netanyahu calls Palestinians “Amalek” meaning that they must all be exterminated, including women and children. Israeli Defense Minister Yoav Gallant calls Palestinians “human animals” (who are therefore fit to slaughter). Parliamentarian Revital “Tally” Gotliv, a member of Netanyahu’s Party, advocates exterminating Palestinians with nuclear weapons, while another minister, Amichai Eliyahu, says “there are no non-combatants in Gaza” and insists that using nuclear weapons is “an option.”
